

StatFest 2018:

A One Day Conference for Undergraduate Students

Learn about statistics and data science careers in industry, government, and academia. Underrepresented students with analytical interests are encouraged to attend and learn about exciting career and graduate study opportunities in statistics and data science.

Amherst College is one of the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the country. Our dedication to the centrality of inclusiveness helps us ensure that the college is a place to which all students feel they belong. Our support of StatFest is one of many programs to help realize this vision and our mission.

Sponsored by the American Statistical Association's Committee on Minorities in Statistics

ASA

MassMutual

Date: Saturday, September 22, 2018

Time: 9:30-5:00 p.m.

Place: Amherst College, Amherst, MA

Contact: Nicholas Horton
nhorton@amherst.edu

Cost: Free though preregistration is required

For more information and to register visit: [https://nhorton.people.
amherst.edu/statfest](https://nhorton.people.amherst.edu/statfest)

Fernando Perez created iPython and co-created Project Jupyter. He is a professor of statistics at the University of California/Berkeley and Senior Fellow of the Berkeley Institute for Data Science.

Scarlett Bellamy is the President of ENAR (Eastern North American Region) of the International Biometrics Society and Professor of Biostatistics and director of the graduate program at the Department of Epidemiology and Biostatistics, Drexel University Dornsife School of Public Health.